

A volume which should be in the hands of every builder. contractor, architect, and owner and dealer in real estate, is now ready and can be procured at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE. It is a new edition of the law relating to buildings in the City of New York, with added matter, marginal n-tes and colored engravings to illustrate the subject. It contains the law limiting the height of dwelling-houses, also the existing Mechanics' Lien Law. This work is edited by William J. Fryer, Jr., whose original and well-thought-out comments give it a special value. The volume will also contain a complete directory of architects in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Newark and Yonkers. The book is handsomely bound in cloth, and is sold at the low price of seventy-five cents, by mail eighty-five cents.

On the whole we have had a moist, cool summer here, East, and consequently the hay crop over a large section of the Eastern and Middle States is the largest we have had for seven years. But in other parts of the country the weather has been mixed. It has been too hot in large areas west of the Mississippi to the injury of all the growing cereals, especially spring wheat and oats. There is complaints that corn is suffering from want of rain, but that plant will stand a good deal of dry weather. Our winter wheat is the best grown for many years, both in quality and quantity. In any event we will have an abundance of food for man and beast, and our railway companies are sure of a good fall business. The cotton crop will not be as large as for the last two years, but even if that and corn is short prices will be better and they will be worth as much to the producers. Very hot weather is reported across the water.

The past has been a dull week in business circles, but a confident feeling in the future is manifested everywhere. Stocks have been strong-Erie and the Vanderbilts leading with good buying on the London Stock Exchange and the Continental Bourses. When our securities were under a cloud last spring the foreigners sold theirs. but the higher prices now prevailing does not deter these same speculators from buying American stocks eagerly. The coal trade does not look very well, and the surplus on hand is so large that the production for August is to be cut down from 3,250,000 to 2,500,000 tons; but it is hoped that this will get rid of the surplus of 600,000 and warrant an advance of 25 cents a ton. It is claimed by those who have studied the subject that more coal will be mined and consumed during the last half of this year than ever before in the history of the country for a similar period, and this because of the prosperity of our manufacturing industries.

Trade seems to be looking up, temporarily at least, in Great Britain. The woolen industries have all revived, and there is a better feeling in cotton goods. There has been some more life in steamship building, and the exports for the last two quarters show an increase over previous returns. But iron, the key to the industrial situation, is still slow of sale, and does not advance in price as on this side of the ocean. We question, however, whether there can be any permanent improvement in the trade of any of the nations of the Old World unless silver is remonetized. Prices will tend downward as gold enhances in purchasing power, but of course at times there will be reactions and spurts of activity which will always be followed by dullness and still lower quotations for all articles which enter into the trade of the world.

The year 1886 will be memorable for the great expansion it will witness of the cities of this country. All accounts agree that building was never so active in the great cer tres of population. Our readers are well aware of what New York and Brooklyn have been doing in the way of building, for we have given the figures repeatedly since January last; but our people generally are not cognizant of the magnitude of building operations in other cities. The same story comes from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, St. Paul, Duluth and San Francisco. Cincinnati has been making giant strides lately in population, almost | and Brooklyn, Yonkers, Long Island City, and such adjacent territory as wholly due to the marvelous industrial development of the South. Memphis has got to be the great cotton centre of the world, and then the second, third and fourth-rate cities are having as marvelous a growth as the first-class places. Unfortunately the statistics of building are not kept, except in a few instances, by the different municipalities, the States or the nation. Just now there is an enormous consumption of bricks, stone, lumber, lime and the metals and other materials used in building, but the statistics are almost wholly wanting. We tried to have the government collect them, for it would serve a useful purpose if it could be known how much money was invested yearly in business operations. We doubt whether this excessive activity is quite wholesome. We fear it will be followed by several years of dullness, if not actual collapse.

The proposed amendments to the extradition treaty now existing between this country and England ought to be indorsed by the Senate without much opposition. Should both governments agree to it Canada would no longer be a land of refuge for bank defaulters, betrayers of financial trusts and the agents of boodle aldermen. This treaty also provides that refuge shall be denied the dynamiter. This provision will have the hearty acquiescence of the people of both countries.

It is discreditable to the civilized nations of the world that some general treaty has not long been in force for the extradition of and punishment of avowed criminals. What with steam, the telegraph and the telephone. the violator of laws designed to protect society should not feel himself safe in any civilized or even semi-civilized country. Bill Tweed, it will be remembered, fled to Spain, with which country we have no extradition treaty; but the Spanish government surrendered him, though not under any obligation to do so. But it would be a great deterrent of crime if the murderer, robber or dynamiter fully realized that he was safe nowhere on earth. unless near the poles or far into the interior of Africa. It would greatly redound to the credit of the administration of President Cleveland if a grand convention of all the nations was held to come to an understanding that would outlaw the criminal classes from the habitable portions of the earth.

The Washington Commissioner of Agriculture calls attention to the remarkable annual increase in the acreage of corn. It has become the favorite crop of our farmers for many weighty reasons. It is a surer crop than wheat. If the price is not satisfactory it can be fed to hogs and other cattle. New uses for it are constantly being discovered, and then we have an even more perfect monopoly of it than we have of cotton. It is growing in favor abroad also, and is the best stand-by of our farming population. A good corn crop fills the land with animal products for several years after it is gathered. There is, however, a limit to the amount of land available for corn growing, while there is no limit practically to the soil upon which wheat may be grown; hence the certainty that corn will be a safer crop to grow year after year. With any kind of luck this year, we ought to harvest 2,2.0,000,000 bushels of corn.

Of course it is all right to bury the telegraphic and telephone wires-indeed this ought to have been done long since; but why bring into existence a new corporate monopoly to profit by performing this very necessary work? Every new company which is given exclusive privileges is certain to be worked in the interests of its stockholders, and is a constant menace to the purity of municipal officials. Surely our experience of ferry corporations and horse-car companies should warn us not to bring into existence another organization likely to make immense profits from facilities granted by city and State enactments. Let the city itself build the subway and charge reasonable rates for its use, but let no more monopolies be brought into being.

At a convention of the master painters, held in Philadelphia recently, there was some discussion as to the necessity of devising some means for reviving the apprenticeship system in the painting trade. The ranks of the house painters have been for years past recruited almost wholly from among foreigners, as the trades unions had practically put a stop to American boys learning this trade. There is a great deal of building taking place all over the country, and house painters as well as workmen in other of the building trades are very scarce. The master mechanics and contractors interested in building should see to it that technical schools are established and maintained to keep up the supply of workmen needed in the building interest. There is always a superabundance of unskilled workmen, but never too many trained craftsmen. The movement now under way to teach the boys and girls in our public schools various handicrafts should be encouraged.

The following has been introduced into the Board of Aldermen: Resolved. That a committee of three members of this Board be appointed by the Chair to consider the advisability of uniting the cities of New York may be thought desirable, into one municipality. The said committee shall have authority to confer with any similar committee appointed by the authorities of any city or village to consider the said subject. The said committee shall report to this Board before the next meeting of the Legislature.

This is a step in the right direction. All our municipal bodies should now move to carry out this great work. We shall never have really good city government until the scattered populations around New York Bay are consolidated into what will be the metropolis of the New World and the second greatest centre of populations on both worlds.

Our Prophetic Department.

GOTHAMITE—I see the Chicago syndicates have opened three retail stores in New York to sell the meat they kill and dress in Chicago and other points in the West. Do you think they will succeed, and, if so, what will be the effect on the meat trade of the metropolis?

SIR ORACLE--If the new meat syndicate is anything like as successful as the Standard Oil Company has been in disposing of kerosene we are on the eve of very great changes in the meat business, not only of New York, but of all the large cities of the country. The Chicago dealers promise to furnish all kinds of flesh food twenty per cent. cheaper than we have been in the habit of paying the retail butchers. This fact will soon advertise itself and will give the Chicago people an immense retail business from the start. The meats they sell will not only be cheaper but will in the average be in better condition than that dispensed by the retail butchers, for it will be killed, kept and sold under the best possible system. New York meat consumers have been forced to sustain literally thousands of unnecessary butcher shops, because, unlike other large cities, it has not been properly supplied with municipal markets. We have had to pay for the rents of unnecessary stores and the salaries and profits of superfluous assistants and butchers.

GOTHAMITE—If these Chicago people succeed and take away the custom of the butcher shops, will not that injuriously affect the landlord interest of New York by doing away with the necessity for so many retail butcher shops?

SIR O.—In time it will make a difference, of course, for these monopolizing syndicates will naturally attract a greatdeal of business to certain limited localities. As Nacy's, Lord & Taylor's, Arnold & Constable and the other great dry-goods stores do a business which would otherwise require hundreds of smaller establishments, so these large meat sellers will extend their operations and make what will be large markets in different parts of the city. The owners of the retail butcher shops will raise a clamor and will have many sympathizers, which they will not deserve, for they have been charging outrageous profits to retail purchasers ever since meat has been sold so cheaply at wholesale prices.

GOTHAMITE—1 see there is some question as to whether cattle growing is likely to be as profitable in the future as it has been in the past. I believe it is a fact that cattle cost more to raise, yet bring lower prices, than was the case several years back?

SIR O.-From the close of the civil war up to say five years ago, cattle breeding in the West was an immensely profitable business. The cattle ranges cost little or nothing, as the herds were maintained on government or unclaimed lands. The cattle owner held, in fee only, sufficient land for his own or overseer's house and accommodations for his cowboys. I was in Texas in 1878, where I met the fortunate owner of a large herd of cattle. He told me his four-year old steers cost him on an average $3.85 apiece; he drove them to the nearest railway station where he was paid in cash from $18 to $20 per head. The purchaser took them North, where they were fed on the more nutritious grasses of Iowa and Illinois, and he made a very handsome profit in selling them to the drovers who brought them East for slaughter. Of course these immense profits led to an overdoing of the business. As railroads extended west of the Mississippi government lands were taken up. The free ranges became restricted and the places where cattle could be watered monopolized. The cost of breeding cattle became greater at a time when their number largely increased.

GOTHAMITE—Have you at hand any statistics about the cattle trade of the country?

SIR O.—I find some interesting facts, taken from the United States census, which ought to be borne in mind. In 1850 we had in the United States 17,778,000 head of cattle. In 1860 we had 25,620,000. In 1870 this number had been reduced by war to 23,800,000. In 1880 we had about 36,000,000; and in 1885,45,000,000. Now, bear in mind, in 1850 we had a population of 24,000,000; in 1880 about 50,000,000, and in 1885 56,000,000 of people. In the meantime we were vastly increasing our supply of hogs, poultry, eggs and fish. The increase of fish-food by artificial hatching has been very great, and hence it would seem that we ought naturally to have so much animal food on hand as to export it very largely to countries that have not our advantages. During the two last years we have had splendid corn crops, and this has added enormously to our hog crop. While our grain product is not relatively as large as it was some years back, our animal-food supplies are much greater and more profitable. You see, in self-defense, France and Germany have combined to discourage our exportation of hog products by putting an import duty on them ; but our meat products, I judge, are destined, for a time at least, to take the place of our exportations of grain. This will be a vast benefit to this country, for heavy croppings of grain impoverishes our soil, while the growth of ford animals enriches it. We should not object if India, Russia, Australia, and the other wheat fields of the world should undersell us, if we can, in place of the grain, send abroad dressed meats, hogs, provisions, bacon, lard, cheese and the like. These last, indeed, may be called manufactured articles. The growing of raw agricultural products is the poorest business on earth, but cattle-growing is, in every country, profitable, for the animal adds to the value of the soil it ranges over, while plants of all kinds, when removed, leave the ground less fertile.

GOTHAMITE—What must be the increase in our herds to keep pace with our population?

SIR O.-It is computed that in twenty years, without any increase in our exports of meat, we shall have to raise 70,000,000 against the 45,000,000 we are known to have now. In forty-five years we shall require 140,000,000 head of cattle. In 1905 our population ought to be 100,000,000. By that time our available grazing ground will have greatly increased in value, unless in the meantime we shall have annexed the Dominion to the north and some of the Mexican States south, both events being probable. Then our fish supply may be indefinitely increased, and we may take a lesson from the thrifty French who support a dense population by giving special attention to the growth of poultry. For one, I am not alarmed at the falling off in our exports of grain. The time is not distant, I hope, when we shall consume our own grain at home, and make up the deficiency by the sale to foreigners of dressed meat and hog products. We are getting to be very rich in the latter. The two great corn crops are likely to be followed by a third just as large, and this will fill our country with pigs, bacon, hams, lard and the like.

GOTHAMITE—But will we not have competition in the sale of meats?

SIR O.—Yes; Australia will supply an immense amount of dressed meats, beef and mutton, to the consuming world, and then South America has incalculably large herds of cattle, which, in a few years, when the necessary trade machinery is organized, will supply vast quantities of meat to compete with the United States and Australia; but, in the meantime, we shall hold the leading position as the supplier to the world of dressed meat products of all kinds.

In our "Out Among the Builders" it will be noticed how large a business our New York architects do in planning out-of-town houses. This city furnishes the designs for the choicest edifices in all parts of the country. THE RECORD AND GUIDE has done not a little to make our architects known by telling of the structures they have planned.

Financial Points.

The drop in Indiana, Bloomington & Western securities, due to the unexpected appointment of a receiver, when all the reports about the road were encouraging, has hurt the other securities with which Mr. Austin Corbin has been identified. His Long Island and Manhattan Beach have both "slumped," and are not likely to rally immediately. Mr. Corbin was in the Reading deal, and, it is charged, unloaded upon his most intimate friends from thirty down to twenty-five.

The Vanderbilts are the strongest stocks on the list, and with reason, for the trunk lines between New York and Chicago have kept faith with each other since last October. The coalers and grangers have been demoralized from various causes, but the lines which run between the Mississippi and the Atlantic have kept the peace, have done well and will do still better this fall. In the opinion of the best judges, while there may be set back and a serious one, all the trunk line securities will see higher figures some time next fall.

The two years' agreement between the Jersey Central and the Baltimore & Ohio is not likely to permanently help the price of the stock of the former, for it is clear that the Central is only to be used until such time as the B. & O. has its own line built to Staten Island. When it reaches New York, the great Baltimore corporation expects to have an hour advantage in time over its trunk line rivals on all Southern points, but will not be able to make such good time to Chicago and other Northern points. There is little doubt but what the B. & O. will enter the trunk line pool when it gets an entrance to New York, which will be early this fall.

While the coal roads are not doing well just now, it is hoped that they will sell more coal next fall and winter than ever before in the history of the country. If Reading could be rescued from the malign influence of Gowen, there would at once be a boom in the coal stocks.

Home Decorative Notes.

-The fancy in dinner and luncheon cards varies between a plain, heavy white square, with the name in long, narrow, gold script, surmounted by the crest or monogram of the dinner given, and a white, oblong square daintily etched in pen and ink, a bit of ribbon fastened at one end with sealing wax stamped with the dinner-giver's seal, and under the ribbon the name.

-Metal mountings on massive articles of furniture, especially those showing antique carvings, are adopted in moderation.

-Among the novelties in leather goods attracting attention at the present moment are the long, narrow leather pocket-books with sterling silver trimmings. The most stylish colors in these goods are the royal red, olive browns and the new tan shade.

Entrée sets are decorated mostly in dark, rich colors, the principal combination being red, blue and gold. As this is the most important course at dinner, we find that great skill and patient labor have been expended on their decoration.

-Brass tables with tile tops make excellent stands for plants.

—The present century has a brilliant record in the advance that has been effected in the production of stained glass both as to colors and artistic composition, and the prevalent use of it is one of the noticeable features of modern decoration, it is desirable, in selecting stained glass, to consider the direction from which the light comes, north windows usually are well treated in warm colors, south windows in cool colors, windows receiving very strong sunlight are best adapted to show dark and rich glass.

-All the odds and ends about the room are now concealed in etched cases. Umbrellas have their case, the whisk-broom, duster and slippers are hidden from view, and the soiled linen goes in a Holland bag in which is etched the following couplet:

Washing days, they say, bring grief; To me they ever bring relief.

-Powdered borax mixed with a little powdered sugar and scattered about the frequented haunts of the much-despised cockroach and diligent ant, will prove certain death to these officious creatures.

-A very satisfactory chair-cushion is of blue denim, ornamented with large conventionalized roses wrought with bright red cotton.

—Very attractive sconces are seen in copper, with oxidized silver trimmings.

-Hanging lamps, in imitation of the old-fashioned lanterns set in iron work, are now in vogue for vestibules. They are suspended from an iron bracket placed a little distance from the wall.

-Monograms are returning as sealing wax vanishes.

There are many articles of Japanese manufacture which serve admirably for the purpose of decoration in country houses; fans are found in an endless variety of colors, shapes and sizes; a rattan lounge with comfortable pillows covered with India silk; rattan chairs with cushions of cretonne; small odd-shaped rattan tables, and a Japanese basket mounted on three crossed bamboo supports will give very convenient and dainty furnishings. A large yellow vase, a bamboo cabinet and a few bright scrolls will add brightness and variety of ornament.

There was a curious advertisement in a paper last Sunday, in which an offer was made to any rich young lawyer of a manuscript treatise on a specialty in law practice. Of course the object was to get some well-to-do legal practitioner to pay handsomely for a work that would advertise him and give him reputation at the bar. There is a good deal of this kind of thing done. A young doctor with a rich father commencing practice will either write himself or get some specialist to write for him a medical treatise, showing accurate acquaintance with some specialty in disease or its treatment. Medical journals are then hired to applaud the work and to give its supposed author a standing in the profession. Advertising of this kind is often resorted to in England by rich men who wish to secure reputation in political circles. A clever writer is hired to write pamphlets or books for which he is liberally paid. In Washington there is quite a corps of writers whose business it is to draw up official documents and write speeches for members of Congress. Reputations have been made for very commonplace men by these secret scribes who are only known to very limited circles.

 Last week we had something to say about drummers, but some new facts have come to light which may be worth reproducing here. It is estimated. taking the whole country through, there are over 80,000 traveling salesmen constantly on the road. Their expense account will average $1,500 per year each, while they probably on an average receive $1,000 per year salary. At this rate some $200,000,000 a year is expended by the so-called drummers. This is a tremendous tax on the trade of the country. The character of these salesmen is improving year by year. There are fewer boys and drunkards than there were. Some few of them make large salaries--$3,000 and $5,000 a year. One of these salesmen gets $3,000 a year for selling the skins that butchers put around sausages. Some carry samples and others pictures of the articles they have to sell. The clothing trade has the largest army of drummers, and next come those who sell boots and shoes. It is a curious fact that while the manufacturers and importers of cloth are generally Christians the manufacturers of clothing whom the drummers sell to are almost invariably Jews.

*  Apropos of Jews, it is remarkable how they follow certain lines of business. They manufacture and sell clothing; but are rarely tailors themselves. They deal in money and exchange, trade in all the necessaries of life, but scarcely ever work with their own hands. The Hebrew buys and sells real estate; but is never a farmer. He works and trades in the precious metals, but never mines to get them out of the earth. On the Pacific coast, the principal owners and foremen of the prominent mines are Irish Roman Catholics. The famous bonanza firm, Mackey, O'Brien, Flood, and Fair, were of that race and creed; but the Jews to-day are to the fore in the business of the world. They are absorbing the wealth of Germany, Austria, France and England. In the United States, during and since the civil war, the Jewish race have made enormous strides in wealth. In countries, it is worthy of note, where he is not oppressed, the Jew is becoming liberalized and seem to be giving up his orthodox faith in the law and the prophets.

The World takes a hint from THE RECORD AND GUIDE and protests against the monopoly which the lawyers have of the government of the country. Of the seventy-six Senators sixty-five are lawyers, and about this proportion holds good in all the legislative bodies and executive chambers of the country. The legal profession make our laws as legislators, expound them as judges, and execute them as governors and heads of departments. Hence, the crowding of the effective talent of the country into the one pro-The World sees this point, and it also is aware of the absurdity of fession. the entire press of the East being bound to look at all financial questions through the eyes of bank officers. The outcry against the Morrison resolution, directing the payment of the public debt with the surplus in the treasury, is a conspicuous example of the slavish subserviency of the newspapers to the national banks. But Editor Pulitzer ought to go a step further. In one of this papers, the Post-Despatch of St. Louis, he is an earnest advocate of the "dollar of our daddies," because that is the sentiments of the Western people. In the World, however, he upholds the gold standard, and calls for the suspension of the coinage of the silver dollar. Orator Puff has two voices-one for the West, the other for the East.

New York has no literary daily paper, although the Sunday issues partly occupy that field. In other large cities there are one or more papers which furnish copious extracts from the current literature of the day. The Transcript, of Boston, used to be a model paper of this kind, while in Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, not to mention smaller places, there is given daily a great deal of interesting matter from books and magazines. There are many women and some men who do not care much for the general run of news, but who peruse with avidity everything relating to books. There is room in New York for an evening paper that will fill this field better than any of the existing journals do.

The Public Parks.

Mr. John D. Crimmins says that the parks of the city are more resorted to and appreciated this summer than ever before, both by the people of the city, holiday visitors from the neighboring cities and visitors from distant places. The expense and special care that has recently been laid out upon them are producing the desired results, and newspapers in distant cities are spreading the reputation of Central Park in consequence of recent visits to it made by their editors or prominent contributors.

One of the improvements in contemplation is the covering of places where the soil is thin with mold to a depth of one-and-a-half or two feet, by which some frequented places will be beautified and a very rich sod may be produced such as our British and Irish visitors boast of in their parks and lawns. The excavation for the building which is going on west and north of the Park has enabled the Commissioners to obtain a great deal of rich top soil that has been removed from the surface, often coming from market garden lots that have been highly fertilized for a long time. As much as one hundred thousand yards of this garden mold will be stored for the purpose of enriching the surface of Central Park.

The Commissioners have great cause for satisfaction in the results of the Saturday and Sunday afternoon concerts in the parks. There is now music every Sunday in five of them. To secure these concerts for the benefit of the people has required a great deal of effort in opposition to those who have fought against them on what they regarded as religious and moral Mr. Crimmins has always used his influence strongly in favor of grounds. every kind of innocent freedom and enjoyment in the parks, and the lawntennis players, among other pleasure seekers, owe their first privileges in Central Park to him. The amount of opposition that has been made, by different classes of people and for various reasons, to every kind of freedom in the Park, is very surprising. Some influential persons have been in favor of much more severe restrictions than those now existing on the use of the great lawns by the multitude of those who wish to enjoy the luxury of walking on the springing sod] and stretching themselves upon it in groups listening to the music, watching the play of the children, and chatting and laughing with old or new acquaintances. Fortunately, the view that has prevailed more and more is that the Park is for the people. Every extension of their freedom has shown that there is little reason to fear that it will be abused or that evil of any kind will result. The neatness of appearance, order, quiet enjoyment and self-respect of the sixty thousand people that may be seen in Central Park on a Sunday afternoon is most admirable and cannot be paralleled anywhere in the world. There is an excellent sermon for every cynical disbeliever in any good in human nature and for every narrow sectarian to be found in Central Park on Sunday.

An object that should not be overlooked in providing places of rest and innocent recreation for the masses in a great city, is that of restraining the natural and dangerous discontent that arises from their life of constant, monotonous struggle for a living. The good effect of these parks and of all the enjoyments and privileges that are accorded in them, as antidotes to Socialism and other secretly-spreading elements of popular disturbance, is not likely to be over-estimated. They are for public peace and order, while they are for the enjoyment, health and morals of the people. Such is the view of the present Commissioners, and it is to be hoped that the Fark will always be managed for the same objects and in the same spirit,

In Search of Pine Groves.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Last winter I had an attack of inflammation of the internal bronchial tubes which nearly killed me, and the convalescence that followed was long and tedious. I did not get really better until I visited Lakewood in the spring. A two weeks' sojourn in that place relieved me of my worst symptoms, some of which came back, however, on my return to New York. I made two shorter visits to the now famous Jersey health resort, and was as I thought each time benefited. This result I attributed to some peculiarities of the air and to the pine woods; but Lakewood is no place to go to in the summer time, as it is intolerably hot, and throughout four months it is the home of the singing, stinging mosquito and the sand-tick. But I hungered for pine groves and determined, if I could, to spend my summer vacation in some place that would fulfill four conditions: 1. It should be within two hours of New York city, so that I could come back to the latter once a week to attend to my business 2. That it should be near a lake, as I was too weak to walk far and needed some light exercise, such as rowing and fishing. 3. I wished to be located in a hilly region, at least 1,000 feet above tide water, so as to escape insect pests and enjoy a cooler atmosphere than is to be found in the valleys. 4. I craved for a pine country, the air of which would be soothing to my sensitive bronchial apparatus.

Now I have no doubt there are plenty of places near New York that would fulfill those requirements; but, as yet, I have not found one of them. My first visit was to Echo Lake, a place on the Susquehanna & Western road and distant about eight miles from Greenwood Lake. Now Echo Lake is a gem in itself. It is the most charming sheet of water I know of within 200 miles of New York. It is surrounded by wooded hills, and so wild that the only trace of man in the neighborhood is one barn on a faraway hill top. Then the farm-house, kept by D. Wickham, is situated on a breezy height, in the midst of shade trees. There is no malaria and no mosquitoes. If there is a breeze anywhere it visits this spot; but, unfortunately in my case, the road to the lake was so rough and fatiguing that it was unavailable, and then the boarding-house, though well kept, was not equipped for invalids. Near Echo Lake is Green Pond, which ex Mayor Ely tells me members of his family have been visiting for fully seventy years; but the one boarding-house on this lake is in possession of a proprietor who has quarrelled with the owner of the lake, and the guests in the house are not permitted to fish in it or use it. It is understood that these two lakes and others in the neighborhood are about to fall into the hands of a syndicate, which expects to supply Jersey City, Newark and Hoboken with pure water; but it is wonderful that this beautiful and healthful region has not been utilized for summer resorts. It is indeed a miniature Adirondacks within two hours of New York city.

My next trial was at a place called Highland Mills, in Orange County, situated on the short cut of the Erie road which runs from Turners to This place is a favorite resort of Brooklyn people, and the Newburg. air is said to be healing to irritable lungs, and soothing to nervous patients. The house is placed on an elevation some 900 feet above tide water and the scenery from the broad piazzas on every side is very picturesque. Then there is a lake a few hundred feet from the house. There was, however, one thing wanting to suit me. There were no pine trees about. Indeed, though originally a thickly-wooded region, there were scarcely any trees within one hundred yards of the hotel. The dairying interests of Orange County does not permit the existence of woods except on rocky and inaccessible elevations. But, all things considered, Highland Mills is a very desirable summer residence; though, notwithstanding its elevation, it did not strike me as cool. It is shut in by mountains on every side. But perhaps I hit upon an unfortunate time. as it was during the Fourth of July week, when it was hot everywhere. I am now writing from Brown's Mills, New Jersey, a place some

I am now writing from Brown's Mills, New Jersey, a place some thirty-two miles from Philadelphia, an old summer resort of families from the capital of Quakerdom. At first glance it would seem to be the very place for me. A thousand acres of pine and cedar trees, in the midst of which is a lake of considerable extent. The hotel with the surrounding cottages is within a stone's-throw of the lake. There are plenty of good boats, free to the boarders; but, alas! even Brown's Mills has its drawbacks. It is the home of the multitudinous fly and the lair of the typical New Jersey mosquito. There are swarms of pretty Philadelphia girls here, who seem rather to enjoy the affectionate fly and the musical mosquito. But the place is really attractive, and I can understand why it has been a health resort for several generations of Philadelphians. It is, I believe, practically unknown to New Yorkers, though visitors to Pierre Lorillard's Rancocas farm, eight miles away, may have heard of it.

Brown's Mills is difficult to get at. One way is by Trenton, the other by Long Branch. I took the latter route and did not regret it, though it is the longer, as it gave me a chance to see the marvellous growth of the Jersey coast from Long Branch to Barnegat Bay. When one remembers what this region was twenty years ago, it seems as if a miracle, yes, several miracles had been worked in the meantime. Indeed, a quarter of a century back Long Branch itself was almost unknown to New Yorkers, and now look at the enormous population which lives during the summer season between the Shrewsbury River and the Pennsylvania bridge which crosses Barnegat Bay. Then what vast sums of money has been expended on the hotels, private villas and grounds between these two points. We wonder at the growth of our great cities in this country, but surely they cannot compare with these series of "cities by the sea" which now line the Jersey coast. I suppose that for the present Barnegat will limit the extension of summer resorts southward, because of the myriads of mosquitoes which swarm about that famous fishing bay. Perhaps in the distant future this insect pest may be mitigated by the reclaiming of the marsh land surrounding or below Shark's River, but it does not seem possible to accomplish this in the next quarter of a century. In the meantime there is still an abundance of coast for New York, Philadelphia and the cities of New Jersey. Of course I mean of ocean front, which the mosquito never or only very rarely visits.

I am still in quest of an elevated, mosquitoless region, near a lake and surrounded by pine woods. Do any readers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE know of such a place within two hours of New York city? C.

Decorative Art in Windows.

Mrs. Bell's window, by Oudinot, and as that of Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, challenges attention and claims a place among the fine arts as well as among the decorative arts by virtue of its subject alone. This is a Venetian wedding feast, and, although in three panels and separated by mullions much more assertive than those of the Vanderbilt window, the picture presents its intention as an ensemble. In the centre panel the young couple set forth with their train-two charming types. Back of them spreads a smiling landscare, and at one side appear architectural forms-columns and arches. In the right-hand panel the architecture becomes a wall against which are grouped musicians with their viols. In the left-hand panel are the young pipers under a tree, the foliage of which is carried into the centre panel over the heads of the young couple. The picture is as blythe as a May morning and delightful in composition. What is especially noticeable is the reproduction of the feeling of the time in its spirit and joyousness. This insensibly leads one to suppose it is a copy in glass of some old painting. On the contrary, it appears it is by M. Luc Ollivier Mersan, the French painter, who is M. Oudinot's collaborateur in works of this kind. The color reproduces the old Venetian tints, and in the costumes, which are of course carefully considered as to archæological correctness, the embroidery and ornamental tracery is done in enamels and by a process which M. Oudinot holds for his own use. This enamel work is slightly in relief and has value by artificial light as well as by translucence.

Mr. Herbert F. Pierce is reviving work on leather in extent, and from an art point of view to be compared only with the old Cordovan leathers. He has recently had on exhibition a panel eleven feet by five, one of a series intended for a dining-room frieze. The subject is a reproduction of Nicholas Hogongery's—a sixteenth century designer—drawing of Charles V.'s entry into Holland. This is a procession of soldiers and citizens on horse and foot with poles and staves, rich in composition, and by arrangement especially well adapted for a frieze. This is conspicuous in the lines of the poles and spears carried above the broader masses made -by the figures, and which are at intervals broken by the banners and standards. This arrangement is not only of lines but of colors, the rich tints and blazonry of the banners varying with the dark sombre tints of the weapons

The color effect of the finished panel is very rich. The leather, it seems, is first overlaid with silver leaf, the color is then applied in glazes, which allow for the effect of the metal. The depth of color is gained by a succession of glazes, and no matter how deep the tint the metallic lustre is still felt. The outlining is given by tracing, and the ornamental work seen in the trappings, and which the period allows to be lavishly used, is not only painted, but tinted. This treatment of leather, it follows, is all by hand, and has in great measure been done by Mr. Pierce himself, since it is out of the scope of the worker after modern methods. The effect of a frieze of such proportions, and so wrought, speaks for itself. But it could find a place only in a drawing-room of the baronial dimensions that are now to be found in some few houses. Apparently, such work could be only produced at great expense, at least on the scale which this panel indicates. However, a modern frieze of this sort would probably cost no more than old tapestries, and these frequently find place.

The reaction against the painted allegories, the cloud-enthroned goddesses, which have disported for so many years on public and private ceilings, must be attributed in great measure not only to our enlarged views concerning works of art, but to the wearisome insipidities of the types employed. Probably a large part of Baudry's fame was due to the fact that he bartered classic lines for the spirit and piquancy of modern faces, and brought the old allegories home to us as it were. This is apropos of a pupil of Baudry's, who is painting a ceiling panel for Mr. George A. Glaenzer. The subject is "Spring," but it receives new life in the same way. Two cherubic boys on one side have their arms full of flowers, and one is preparing to throw them with sturdy aim on three nymphs among the clouds below. They throw up their arms to ward off the attack. Two are grouped together, and one receives the blows alone. Their faces are piquant, with poir ted chins, and the red, yellow and black hair of the three flying at the side is brushed forward in a nineteenth-century frieze, half shading the eyes beneath that are filled with mischievous gleams. The figures are note and relieved with colored draperies.

Some wall panels by Mr. Glaenzer, intended for a room to contain objects of art, are worth remark. These are on burlaps and stretchers. The design is a reproduction of an old Indian carpet. The ground is crashed in light brown. On this is drawn the geometrical forms in duller brown. These variations of tints of brown make up the design for the most part, but here and there introduced are old greens and reds, that are felt without being insisted on, and make the same sort of harmonious wall background that we find so valuable in Indian carpets for the relief of furniture.

A leading real estate speculator and owner in New York city has created some commotion by prophesying a big drop in rents there next season. His conviction is that the reduction will correspond, in a measure, with the reduction of dividends on all classes of securities, seeing that bondholders are glad to get three or four per cent, for their investments, while government securities do not return more than three per cent. Improved city property has heretofore returned a far better income than gilt-edged bonds, but we are told that the time is not far distant when the disproportion cannot be maintained. There are numerous reasons why city real estate should make a better return in the way of income than stocks and bonds, which owners will readily call to mind. It bears the bulk of the burden of taxation, while money at interest secapes almost wholly. Insurance and repairs eat up a good deal of the proceeds, while occasional losses through the dishonesty or misfortune of tenants further reduce the income. While as ten to tweive or fifteen per cent., owners generally have to be content with five or six per cent, and in exceptional cases materially less. Until local taxes are greatly reduced, therefore, we do not look for much of a reduction of rents in Pittsburg.—Exchange.

A "Sample Day" in the Sanctum. Thursday last was what we call a "sample day" in the office. The editor had just cleared up his arrears of work prior to his well-earned vacation, and was putting the finishing touches to his leading editorial. His duster, satchel, and railroad guide were conveniently at hand when the office boy came in and said: "There's about half-a-dozen people in the business office watin' ter see yer. Here's their cards."

Glancing over them hurriedly the chief remarked: "Please attend to them. I guess they don't want anything very important, but you can just find out in a cheerful, good-natured way. I'm afraid I shan't have time to catch the train if I stay longer." Waving me a hurried "good-bye," and he was gone.

I confess it was a somewhat new position, and not devoid of a certain amount of responsibility; but if good nature and tact amounted to anything I felt that I could fill the bill.

"Show the first gentleman in."

A tall, angularly-built man entered. His gait was something between a stride and a shuffle, as though he had a sort of impediment in his left heel. He smiled in a smirky sort of way, sat down in the nearest chair, and said: " My business is important."

I looked grave as befitted the occasion.

"You're in the real estate business, I suppose, sir ?"

"Well, yes; I am connected with real estate in a limited way. I'm an undertaker by profession. Business with me, you'll observe, is looking either up-or down. Just now it's in a kind of transition state, that is to say, people ain't dying at the rate which past experience justifies, and, in the interval of leisure, I have come to suggest a new line for THE RECORD AND GUIDE to follow."

"We are always open to suggestions, and I need scarcely remind you that our advertising columns offer a very remunerative field for investigation." "You don't follow my meaning, exactly."

"Indeed !"

"No, sir; I never advertise. My desire in calling upon you is to suggest the desirability of advocating the purchase of grave lots on the instalment principle."

"For whose benefit?"

"Why, ostensibly for the numerously deceased, but really for the immediate profit of the projectors of the concern. I have here (producing several pamphlets in German and French) a series of official statistics to prove that...."

'Pardon me interrupting you, but are you a subscriber ?

"I never read but one copy of your paper in my life. But I've no objection to subscribe, say for three months, should the editorial department fall in with my views."

"I'm afraid you somewhat mistake the scope of the paper. It's a live paper and we make it a point never to deal with dead issues. If you want to advertise your scheme, our business manager will no doubt hand you our tariff."

And this is what you call enterprise ?"

"That's the name we give it for want of a better. Perhaps we are mistaken in our notion of what it implies, as you understand it.

"Then you decline my offer ?"

"If you base it on purely sentimental motives, I'm afraid we must."

"Then, sir, you've thrown away a good opportunity !"

"What you say is, no doubt, correct ; we do fling away opportunities of that and other kinds, I should say, on an average, about every other day ; in fact, I'm afraid we're getting to be absolutely reckless in that respect. Show the next gentleman in, Tommy."

Caller No. 2 was a short, little fellow, who spoke in a jerky kind of way, as though he was in the habit of ejecting out his words by sections from an invisible catapult.

"1 thought the editor was in ?"

"I represent him, sir!"

"Doyou, sir ? He's a great personalfriend of mine."

"Sorry he isn't here to receive you, as I know he'll be quite grieved to have missed you when he hears you've called. Have you known him long ?"

"Methim at apublicmeeting about eightyears ago, though I haven't seenhimforthelastfouryears; but we'regreatfriends.

"And what can I do for you ?"

"Well, Iwanttofindout whobought the lot on the southwestcorner of Forty-ninthstreetandFourthavenue, about sixteenyears ago; Ithinkitwas onthesixteenth of March, eighteen-seventy. Letmesee, thereare oneortwo otherdates Iwantto searchfor. Ithink theywerein eighteenseventy-four, eighteenseventy-six, and eighteeneighty-one. If orget the precisedates, but Ihavethe locations. Ihopel'mnot troublingyou ?"

"We always try to accommodate our subscribers. Let me see; what did you say your name was ?"

"Well,Ican scarcelycallmyself asubscriber; thefactis mysecondcousin's arealestateman, and Igenerally see the paper when he's through withit; that doesn'ntmake anydifference, Isuppose ?"

"No, sir; not at all. We pride ourselves, in this office, on being obliging, and try to carry that rule out everytime."

"Willittake long ?"

"Not more than half a day, I should think ; but that's nothing. Glad to oblige any friend that's the friend of a subscriber."

"Verywarm, isn'tit ?" "Quite warm." Here I rose and, calling the boy, said : "Tommy, go to the cashier and ask him to give you a quarter ; bring up a good cigar and a glass of lemonade for this gentleman-and tell the cashier it's for a gentleman who's second cousin to a subscriber. You can also tell Smith, the Index clerk, to hunt up the details of these memoranda." (Turning to the visitor) "I think you said you had the locations ?"

"Heretheyare ; I'mverymuch obligedtoyou, I'msure. Tell'emnottomake thelemonade toosweet."

"Make yourself perfectly at home," I added, "and if there's anything else you want, don't mind mentioning it. There's a sofa in the back office, if you feel sleepy, because you might, you know, as the search won't be through for some hours. You'll find matches in that drawer yonder. We try to please our visitors right straight along. You'll excuse me, I know, if I leave you, as there are other callers."

"Certainly ; don'tmindme, I'mquiteathome."

My third visitor was an austere-looking man who might, if his looks were the index to his mind, have not only owned the earth, but the sea also and all that therein is. I saw at sight that my draft of good nature and tact would be worth all that its face value called for.

"Look here, sir, f've not been treated well and I've come to know the I've called to ascertain why my new house has not been reason why. written up before. I built that house and I want the world to know it. I think subscribers have some rights."

"They have, sir; even when in arrears," I meekly responded, "and it will be my aim to see that they are duly respected. You want your house written up, you say? What sort of description would suit you best-a breezy, vivid, and artistic sketch, or a pathetic, moving, soul-stirring romance in three numbers? Or, if you merely wish a technical recital, bristling with business-like points, such as our readers would gloat over, you've only got to say it, and you shall have the whole business; or, maybe, a judicious flavoring of the three styles combined might take better?" The austere man slowly relaxed into a grim smile.

"I leave it to you, as I see you know your business. Only I want it done next week, sure."

"I'll attend to it at once. Excuse me a moment while I give instructions. Mr. Simpkins, please tell Mr. Todds as soon as he comes in to-morrow morning to take a carriage and drive to the annexed district and write up this gentleman's two-story and a-half frame cottage, 25x50, with extension (I think you said 14x16, sir) and tell him it's wanted special this week without fail."

Here Tommy, the office boy, came in and whispered, "The manager wants to know, sir, if you're going to sleep home to-night, as it's now halfpast seven?"

And so it was. Good nature and tact had triumphed. As I got my hat out of the inner room the second cousin to the subscriber was sleeping serenely with his cigar-stump fast wedged between his teeth.

Competition for Armory Plans.

The new Armory Board have issued a notice to architects that plans for the following armories will be received up to August 12th.

The Board consists of Mayor Grace, chairman; Commissioner of Taxes and Assessments Michael Coleman, secretary; Commissioner of Public Works Rollin M. Squire, and Brigadier-Generals W. G. Ward and Louis Fitzgerald.

The intended armories are those for the Eighth and Twenty-second Regiments, N. G., S. N. Y.

The Eighth Regiment armory is to occupy the block about 200x403, between Madison and Fourth avenues and Ninety-fourth and Ninety-fifth streets. Competing architects must have in view the following requirements: Plans are to include quarters for the Second Battery of Artillery, including gun rooms, harness, saddle, officers' and company rooms, and as large a drill-room as practicable.

The Twenty-second Regiment Armory is to be built on the block between Ninth avenue and the Boulevard and Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth streets. It will front 200 feet on Ninth avenue, 225 feet on the Boulevard, 224 feet on Sixty-seventh street and 327 feet on Sixty-eighth street.

The armory is to be built preferably of stone, and will contain as large a drill-room as practicable, with the necessary officers' rooms; rooms for ten companies of suitable size, with fuel, water, washing and closet accommodations; also a range for cooking for 800 men; two rifle ranges of as great a length as possible.

The colonels of both regiments are to be consulted as to their detailed wants.

In such cases as the Board may decide a reasonable extension of time will be allowed for completing plans. Those architects whose plans were rejected by the previous Board have been invited to send them in again for inspection.

The competition has excited considerable interest among architects, and the facts herein presented and which are now published for the first time were furnished THE RECORD AND GUIDE from Commissioner Coleman's office

Business Outlook.

Diminshing Failures.

Diminshing Failures.
The national failure record continues to prove the actual though slow return of the conditions of prosperity. In general, the present year might be expected to give a poor business showing. At the most critical time there came labor disturbances which frightened capital, brought enforced idleness, and so disarranged the course of trade and overthrew the plans and estimates of merchants, as well as manufacturers, that it must have been responsible for a large number of business disasters. Merchants in the Southwest who had just received large stocks of goods found themselves cut off from their customers at the opening of the season. Orders were withheld from manufacturers, and the causes that bring failures were put in unaccustomed activity. Yet, notwithstanding all this, there has been a distinct improvement in the last six months as compared with the preceding year. The number of failures reported to Bradstreets for this period in 1886 is 540, as against 6,100 in 1885, 5,444 in 1884, and 5,296 in 1883. We have risen a respectable distance from the trough of last year's sea, and are now ascending toward the crest of the wave at least as rapidly as we ran down the incline in the preceding years. It can hardly be doubted that but for the labor disturbances there would have been fewer failures in these months than in the corresponding time of any of the last three years. The comparative severity of failures is still more indicative of returning business health. It is not so much the absolute number of failures as the actual money losses involved which is the true commercial barometer. And while the percending before the declining breath of the receding storm. Each week's record shows the improvement to be continuing. The conditions now are all favorable. There are but two dangers ahead—but two causes which are now falling before the declining breath of the receding storm. Each week's record shows the improvement to be continuing. The conditions now are all favorable. There ar

Growth of Population and Food Production.

Growth of Population and Food Production. The summer hog-packing (since February) has this year been somewhat greater than last year, the whole number packed at the twelve principal packing places in the Northwest having been 2,433,232 down to June 26 this year, against 2,242,917, an increase of 190,365, or 814 per cent., and the summer packing last year was greater than in any previous year except 1880, and a fifth more than in 1884. At the rate of increase shown by these twelve places for the four months (half the season), the number packed during the eight months to October 31 will be about 5,265,000, while the greatest number heretofore was 5,323,898, in 1880. Thus, the large corn crops of the last two years are making themselves felt in this important staple, while in the winter packing and the corn and provision exports they have been felt much less than it seemed natural to expect. Thus the number packed in the last winter season (November to February, inclusive) was 6,293,995, and the year before, 6,460,240, which are less than in any of the four years, 1877-78 to 1880-81, when the number ranged from 6,565,000 were packed, the number series the other season so greats. For the twelve months ending with October last the number packed was 11,313,619, and in the only previous years in which as many as 10,000,000

1878-79. 11,531,896.

11,313,610, and in the only previous years in which as many as 10,000,000 were packed, the numbers were : 1878-79. 1879-90. 1880-81. 11,531,800. 12,274,340. 11,723,145. so that only in 1880 did the number greatly exceed last year's. With the rate of increase so far continued through this summer season, the whole number for the twelve months ending with next October will be 11,564,000, and not six per cent. less than in 1870-80. Exports having fallen off greatly in comparison with the early years of great production, it follows that the home consumption of pork products must have increased materially, and perhaps more than in proportion to the increase in population. In Europe this would indicate an improvement in the condition of the people; but it does not necessarily bere, where the poorer classes even eat beef and mutton and butter in preference to pork and bacon, when they have plenty of work and good wages, and when times go hard with them may est more pork than before. But actually since 1850 there has been a considerable increase in the production of cattle and dairy produce and a decline in the exports of them, so that we are taking much more beef and butter, as well as more pork than we used to. But there must be in the country now very neartly 60,000,000 eat a great quantity of meat, etc. Indeed, if the produce of which we getistics, were the whole, they would be very ill fed indeed; the great-est number of hogs reported packed in any one year amounted to only 46% bb, per inhabitant, and that year we exported 26 lbs, per inhabitant, leaving but one ounce aday apiece; but while the Northwestern packing includes most that goes to market and is transported by rail or steamer or exported, that goes to market and is transported by rail or steamer or exported, that goes to market and is transported by rail or steamer or exported, that goes to market and is transported by rail or steamer or what the country where corn is grown at all, except the South (which produces much, but al 1879-80. 12,274,349.

Railway Building Active.

The projects of the various large corporations for additions and exten-sions this year are now so far advanced that it is possible to take a super-ficial view of the field, and to see that the results will exceed in importance those of last year or the year preceding. While it cannot be said that there is any marked recovery yet from the period of prostration which set in with the beginning of 1883, still the work of reorganization has sufficiently rehabilitated the most crippled companies, and where there is local justifi-cation for expansion building is again going forward. Particularly in the States which feel the impulse of an incoming agricultural population of a

American watches are now sold wherever the English language is spoken. It is said that the system of making watches in this country is stirring up great interest in England, but in view of the fact that there are now ten suc-cessful watch factories in the United States and nine more are in process of organization, English manufacturers would find it no easy matter to occupy the markets now held by Americans This, at least, is one of our industries which seems to be self-protecting.—Omaha (Neb.) Real Estate Department.

There were no sales at the Real Estate Exchange on Saturday or Monday On Tuesday eight lots were offered by the assignees of Wm. Henry Smith on the southwest corner of Fourth avenue and One Hundred and Fifteenth street, upon which there was an incumbrance of about $26,500, four lots, each 25.3x80, front on the avenue and four adjoining, 25x100.11, on the street. There was a good attendance and the sale created considerable interest. The avonue lots brought $16,900, and the street lots $16,600. The latter were considered the cheaper on account of the increased size of the lots. On Wednesday the foreclosure sale of No. 326 East Twenty first street, upon which $6,570 was due, sold for $10,125 to Edward W. Candee.

On Thursday the partition sale of No. 91 Second avenue and No. 93 Columbia street was adjourned until July 29th. The foreclosure sale of a right, title and interest of Charles F. Willis in Nos. 315-325 East One Hundred and Third street, Nos. 324 and 326 East One Hundred and Fourth street and Nos. 320, 324 and 326 East One Hundred and Fifth street, containing frame dwellings, shanties and stables, upon which $931 was due, was bought by plaintiff for $1,430. The sale of the three-story stone front dwelling No. 315 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street was adjourned sine die.

The number of pieces or plots of real estate assessed in 1881 was 152,630; in 1882, 152,211; in 1883, 152,182; in 1884, 156,333; in 1885, 159,432, and in 1886, This increase in the number of pieces of real estate is caused by 161,617. the division of several large tracts of land into lots in the upper wards of the city. The number of applications from parties considering themselves aggrieved by assessments on their real property has decreased every year, from 2,478 in 1881 to 907 in 1886, except that in 1885 there was an increase compared with the three preceding years.

On Friday the only sale was the foreclosure of the four-story brick (stone front) tenement No. 242 East Seventy-ninth street, on which $13,210 was due, to T. Donovan for $16,000. The foreclosure sale of No. 26 East Sixtysecond street was adjourned sine die, and No. 124 West Forty-fifth street to July 30th.

J. W. Stevens has sold for James B. Gillie the five-story flat No. 519 West One Hundred and Fourth street to J. W. Coates on private terms.

West Fifty-third street to John S. Ferguson, for Mrs. Mary Malcolm, for $14,000

Emil H. Eckhardt has sold for H. T. Willock the three-story and English basement house No. 302 West Fifty-first street, 20x43x100, for $13,500.

Schuyler & Giles have sold for the Misses Lewis the three-story brick and stone dwelling No. 56 West End avenue, 26x40, with irregular lot, to Mr. G. Shearman.

Edward Cunningham has sold four lots on the northeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-third street, three on the avenue and one on the street, for $26,500, to Emanuel Hoffman. Broker, John R. Foley.

Special Notice.

William Bell, the well-known manufacturer of hardwood doors, wainscoting and all kinds of hardwood trimmings for buildings, has removed his manufactory from Nos. 423 and 425 East Ninety-first street to the upper part of Scharman & Co.'s new planing mill, corner of First avenue and One Hundredth street, where he has increased his facilities and is better prepared to give prompt attention to all orders.

Mr. John Armstrong, for the past twenty years a tobacco dealer in Harlem, has opened a real estate office at No. 1790 Third avenue, between Ninety-ninth and One Hundredth streets, where he proposes to conduct a general brokerage business and give special attention to the management of estates. Mr. Armstrong has for a few years past paid considerable attention to real estate matters, and having the confidence of a large number of investors is already prepared to offer to purchasers of improved or unimproved property a number of reliable and safe investments.

John H. W. Killeen, the real estate broker at No. 303 Third avenue northeast corner of Twenty-third street, promises to be one of the most successful dealers on the east side. Commencing business in September last, he has managed, by his industry and business qualifications, to dispose of a large amount of property placed in his charge, and has realized for the owners handsome returns. Mr. Killeen has a large amount of good, profit-

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

-For Common Hards the market has under-BRICKS. gone very little change and there is nothing of unusual interest to advise for the week. Arrivals have con-tinued reasonably full, always more or less in excess of the demand, but appear to have come into good hands, and under juricious management a pressure to realize was prevented. Buyers, however, did not report of sales made we find about former rates men-fioned for a general range, only occasional parcels of poor stock going below figures as quoted and these hardly being accepted as a proper basis to perma-entify fix rates. On the other hand, too, there has been a considerable degree of strength rotained on the upper qualities with a slight tendency to creep upward on bids where particulary attractive cargoes were available. Several large jobs are?now under way, especially in the lower part of the city, where the best obtainable quality of stock must be used, and this seems to keep a small premium on anything showing on bids. Users a strenge. The rate as named $.1½@6.25 for extras, $5 50@6 25 for Up Rivers and "something higher" for a few makes, with Haver straws at $6.2½@7 00 per M, the latter a little extreme for the average. There is a very small amount of stock piled away at any point, most of the cargoes manufacturers turning out supplies well up to pro-vanted. About the old story comes from primary points, work proving free in pretty much all cases, manufacturers turning out supplies well up to pro-vanted. For Pales the demand appears to be abuilte irregular with quotations named at $150@A?7 per M, but stock worth the outside rate is the quiek-et, gone very little change and there is nothing of unusual interest to advise for the week. Arrivals have con-

LATH.-At $2.00 per M the market seems to have struck a groove and is running there still, that figure naving been the price on all wholesale business since our last, except one cargo within a day or two at $2.10 to arrive, the latter, however, hardly a quota-tion, but considered significant by sellers. Offerings could not at any time be called full, yet they have sat-isfied the outlet, and dealers evidently still retain a portion of the purchases made some little time ago. Amounts afloat are small and manufacturers com-plaining of the price.

LIME.—So far as prices are concerned the old line of figures remain current and the position is steady. Supplies have been very small all the week and not many arrivals expected, with receivers booking a few orders ahead, though many dealers have a little old stock on hand and display no unusual anxiety. Occa-sional arrivals from St. John, N. B., sell very well and still command $1.00 per bbl

LUMBER -In the general distribution of stock dealers are making a fair showing and probably some little progress, without, however, reaching a point of more than ordinary animation. The weather has some influence in retarding operations as usual at this season, and in many cases the deliveries are simply in fulfillment of old engagements, but new contracts are not wanting and the indications continue favorable for a further increase, as shown by the inquiries already developing. Indeed, the speculative building trade is already showing some anxiety to get their orders booked, but experienced dealers are inclined to act rather cautiously with that class of trade and resist the temptation of the somewhat fuller prices likely to be obtained as compared with the closer figuring but more reliable customers. Supplies in the meantime are gradually accumulating, more especially in the way of soft woods, and the assortment improving, a portion of the arrivals still including purchases made last winter and gradually coming forward and some investment of more recent date, the coast wise offering as usual forming basis for the latest dealing, though agents from interior points are doing some very good work occasionally, and quite a number of dealers or their representatives are out of town picking up desirable parcels. In the matter of sales from first hands probably no better terms have been offered since our last, but the general tone is easy, and buyers cannot be drawn into increased bids on any description of stock. Some operators are talking more or less buoyantly of what they expect, but what they at present obtain differs in no essential particular from the results of a week or two past. The export trade continues to drag and appears to be a source of conside able complaint in several quarters Eastern Sprice has not changed to any extent in refers frequently mentioned, simply because there has been fewer arrivals of inferior stuff. Buyers are no bei-ter inclined to handle short and narrow specifications than during the earlier portion of the season and for such w ers are making a fair showing and probably some little progress, without, however, reaching a point of easy terms, but for staple sizes adapted to regular riky wants make no objection to paying a fair rate and predict manded an onthe most the bulk out is affant and predict that there will be no theavy accumulation of cargoes in port again this season, as manufactur-ers are determined to ship less freely in view of the unremunerative setur. Specials of difficult specifica-tion continue a little siow as buyers are not willing to make desirable bills, but there has been quite a little business done in easy sizes, maily on out-of-town of these it is likely will keep numerous mills sufficiently employed to prevent an accumulation and shipment of random. We quote Randoms at $11.000 [120 per M for 3 and4x5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 inch; $12.500 [13.5] for 3 and 4x9, 10, 11 and 12 inch, and $14.000 [14.00 per M for 3 and4x5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 inch; $12.500 [13.5] for 3 and 4x9, 10, 11 and 12 inch, and $14.000 [14.00 per M for 3 and4x5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 inch; $12.500 [13.5] for 3 and 4x9, 10, 11 and 12 inch, and $14.000 [14.00 per M for 3 and4x5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 inch; $12.500 [13.5] for 3 and 4x9, 10, 11 and 12 inch, and $14.000 [14.00 per M for 3 and4x5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 inch; $12.500 [13.5] for 3 and 4x9, 10, 11 and 12 inch, and $14.000 [14.00 per M for 3 and4x5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 inch; $12.500 [13.5] for 3 and 4x9 pen concessions on first-class stock, but is vould be still more of a task to secure an advance or to burry the movement of supplies toward any outlet. Box-makers are commencing to use a little more stift, but outside of that local consumption is slow and uncer-tain and sepecially so on building account, as already advised. The greatest drawback, however, is on the export trade, which continues to run stradil's behind last year and can only be kept alive on a refueed vol-tume by making terms easy and attractive. The Australian trade is now heard from at only spasmodic and uncertain int-rusis, ard while occessional fair orders come from the West Indles and South America the finance the substantion of the secontal markets meet the

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES. THE WEST.

THE WEST. The Northwestern Lumberman reports as follows: The dullest period of the year is now passing, and the time is at hand when there will be a revival. The weakest point in regard to prices has also been reached, and probably passed, for there are evicences in this city and in the Saginaw valley that values are a little firmer, and that holders are more confident of the near future. Yard stocks throughout the country able investments on hand, and purchasers desiring east side property would do well to consult him. "The Cottage Portfolio," recently published, consists of twelve lithographed designs of low-cost houses, with forty-three illustrations. Its aim is to aid those who are interested in building convenient, comfortable and artistic homes at a low cost. The designs given will be found to be adapted to the wants of many who wish to build houses costing from $1,000 to $4,000. The work is published by Fred. A. Hodgson at No. 294 Broadway. Contractors' Notes.

The Department of Public Parks will receive sealed bids or estimates at its office Nos. 27 and 29 Reade street, until ten o'clock A. M. on Wednesday, August 4th, for furnishing the materials and labor for the carpenter and joiner work, painting and glazing, plumbing, wrought, cast and galvanized iron work, sheet copper and tin work, slating, skylight glass, and excavating and removing all earth and rock, drainage, mason work, granite and other stone work, plastering and stucco work, in the enlargement of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in Central Park; also for constructing the Mill Brook drains and appurtenances between 144th street and Westchester avenue in the 23d Ward, and constructing a sewer and appurtenances in East 138th street, from Brook avenue to St. Ann's avenue.

are low. There has been delay about stocking up. The rise of the fall demand will come with no ovre-stock anywhere. The log supply at the mills has been checked by low writer, and though many of the loss may come along on late rises, still the output of the mills, in the aggregate, has not accumulated as fast as would have been the case had the logs crowded the booms early in the season. A brisk August de-mand would necessitate a lively looking about for stocks to keep trade moving. A comfortable lot of cargoes has been daily handled by the commission men during the week. The mar-ket has been just sufficiently supplied to sharpen the appetite of buyers, and render trading comparatively easy. Short green piece stuff has held firmly at $9 a thousand, with a tendency to staying qualities at that figure. If any concessions are made they are p. t., and pertain to time of payment, or the selling of un-desirable sizes or edge boards in the cargo at a slight concession. But $9 a thousand is the price for a straight cargo of short green piece stuff, that runs well to desirable sizes and lengths. There has been a fair demand all the season for small and medium sized timbers. Yards last year unloaded them at low figures because there was then an accumulation. Last sprine it was discovered that there was a measure of scarcity of timbers and this season the yards have taken a little more of this sort of mill product. A load that runs well to fax to 10x10, that is long, sells for $12 to $12.50 a thousand. Short stuff is cheaper. Some dry and partly dry No. 2 boards and strips is coming to market, from the season's accumulations at the mills. It is not being shipped lavishly, and will not be, it is said, until later in the season. The larger share sells from $10 te $11 a thousand. Little No. 1 stock is being offered at the market docks, the bulk of such lumber being bought at the mills.

The Lumberman of Chicago as follows:

The Lumberman of Chicago as follows: The market is stiffer, but there has been no change in prices which will show in a list of quotations. Piece stuff while moving more readily at $9, has not advanced beyond that point. No concessions, however, are now required to induce buyers to pay this price, as the quantity offering is rather less than they wou'd take if the opportunity were offered. Heavy joist of long lengths ranges rather higher in proportion than short stuff. We quote it at $11,013, though there was a cargo, nearly all 2 and 3x12 and 14 and running from 20 to 26 feet long which the seller claimed to have got off at $14. There has been a good deal of inch on the market, most of it medium and No. 2 stock, which brings about the range quoted. Some good lumber has also been sold, one cargo of extra choice No. 1 going at $22. Dealers in hardwood, as distinct from the other going at §22. Dealers in hardwood, as distinct from the other branches of the lumber trade, are in a comparatively amiable frame of mind. Consumption is gradually in-creasing in all sections of the country, and drafts on this market are not only larger than at the correspond-ing time a year ago, but show a good proportion of increase to meet the growing wants. Jobbers are constantly on the lookout, and just now the receiv-ing of supplies is occupying considerable time and attention.

A uniformly goed demand comes from wagon manu-facturers. Some of them say they have more work than they can attend to. There is as yet no percepti-ble falling off in the trade in interior finish woods, and choice sweet gum selected for molding purposes is a quick-selling commodity, if it be free from sap, at $25. Mahogany moves in larger quantities than formerly, both contractors and consumers perceiving the true with cheaper productions which require staining to make presentable. There is a noticeable improvement in the grades of the yellow pine handled here, and the quality of the receipts is more nearly in keeping with the demand for prime wood for inside finish than at any previous time in the history of the market. There is also a loosening of the grasp of the labor element on the manufacture of furniture, and the old market staple, black walnut, begins to move as heretofore, being the most reliable factor in this branch of the

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. The lumber trade of the Northwest seems to have been on a little boom during the last ten days; almost without exception twenty-five firms interviewed claim that they are having all the orders—local and on ship-ping account—which they can handle. The trade seems to be principally from Dakota and Nebraska. Some complaint is made of dulness in Iowa and Southern Minnesota. Reports from St. Louis show that the heated term and harvest has brought dead dull times in the lumber trade, both receipts and shipments being very light. Prices on what is sold are well maintained. No concessions are made for local business or East-ern trade by either dealers or railroads. The Michigan manufacturers continue to keep the auction well loaded down and many sales made p. t. The log and raft lumber trade along the river is nearly suspended. Chippewa lumber cannot reach the Mississippi in more than 12-inch rafts. The St. Croix is very low, and 100,000,000 feet of logs remain at and above the falls. Bome few log sales are reported, but the lots are small and went at regular and fair figures.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The London Timber Trades Journal says: American Black Walnut.—There is, perhaps, a little more trade doing, but it is not nearly so brisk now as was the case a month or two since; however, as the imports have been very moderate lately, we should suppose the change that may shortly come is most likely to be in sellers' favor.

GLASGOW.

ikkely to be in sellers' favor. GLASGOW. GLASGOW. GLASGOW. From particulars of stockfhoted below it will be seen that as regards most descriptions the stock on hand is comparatively moderate, owing to the quietness of the demand; at present imports should be restricted, as a light supply will be quite adequate for the consumpt-tion going on. There is a heavy stock, as will be observed, of pitch pine timber and teak; the consumption of pitch pine for the past quarter, amounting to 12,800 loads we make out, has been rather more than for the previous three months. Demand for teak is very limited at present, but it is believed there will be a cessation of supplies from abroad for some time, there being a report from the shipping ports to this effect, and this would place stocks in an improving position. The past quarters consumption of American hardwoods of Quebee waney boardwood and yellow and red pine 5,400 loads being altogether about equal to the con-sumption during preceding quarters. Of deals, Quebee and Lower port, the consumption for the past three months has apparently teen 2,400 St. Peters-burgh stand wids. Deliveries of deals at present going on are light. THE PROVINCES.

THE PROVINCES.

According to the Journal of Commerce the Quebec Timber Market continues very dull, and sales are made with considerable difficulty. One old raft of 1882 tim-ber, containing small waney and square pine of 44 feet, was sold at 14c; while a choice Kippewa raft of 33 feet, with a small portion of waney board, 21 inch, has been closed at 25 cents per foot. For red pine there is some inquiry for shipping parcels, which are worth 28c. to 25c. for good timber. No sales of hard-wood are reported.

METALS .- COPPER .- Ingot does not make much of a show in the matter of general animation. Yet in a a show in the matter of general animation. Yet in a quiet way considerable stock is moving on sales to both the home and foreign outlets. Offerings are equal to the wants of buyers, but rarely become excessive and a good steady range of value is preserved. Lake quoted at 10c and other brands, such as Baltimore, Arizona, etc., at 94(a)9(a) in small lots continue to more and about former prices are obtained. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper', ordinary size, over 16 oz. per synare foot, fize, per 1b., do, do, ol., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 21c, per 1b., do, do, ol., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 21c, per 1b., do, do, ol., 10 for and over, 23c, per b), foot, 20c, ol., gipter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 21c, per b), ido nches in diameter, 31c, per b), ido nches in the single of the synchical price is and bolt Copper. or invest beyond their natural early wants, and the exceptions are generally found to be those who have exceptions are generally found to be those who have some special advantage in the way of transportation rate, etc. Demand, too, is very irregular in develop-ment and the market far from satisfactory at the present time; still, there are a certain number of hold-ers who persistently refuse to admit the necessity for any real depression, and their stocks are not available at ruling rates. We quote at $$2.10a_{2.2}$ oper keg for 10d, to 60d, from store, and $2.10 asked for car lots in deference to asking rates now current.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC .- Animation is by no means one of the present features of the market, and many of the trade complain of a dull tone in very decided the trade complain of a dull tone in very decided terms. Orders from the interior, however, continue to drop in with more or less freedom as compared with a month ago, and the mails bring evidence of sufficient interest among customers to lead to hopes of a wider scope to the demand at no distant day. As-sortments are kept up very well and offerings made therefrom quite readily, but only at former rates. Linseed Oil, handled in about the usual quantity and form, with prices higher, is quoted at 40@40½c. for Western, and 41@41½c. for City. Spirits Turpentine met with a good demand and at gradually hardening rates, closing still rather in sellers' favor at 31@35c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

PITCH AND TAR.-Buyers call for about ordinary trade parcels, and beyond that the demand seldom extends. Prices as before and steady. We quote Pitch a: $1.50@1.75 per bbl.: Tar, $1 90@2.25, accord-ng to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortguyor, the next that of the mortgage. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mort-gage was handed into the Régister's office to be re-corded. ded corded. Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corre-sponding date.

BUILDINGS PROJECTED.

The first name is that of the owner; ar't stands for architect, m'n for mason and b'r for builder.

A handsome volume, just issued, contains information of great value to all who are interested in building. It contains a new edition of the Law Relating to Buildings, with the Law Limiting the Height of Dwelling Fouses, and the Mechanic's Lien law, has valuable notes, a full index, and colored engravings illustrating the subject, and is edited by W. J. Fryer, Jr. It also has a full directory of the architects in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Newark and Yonkers. It is for sale at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, at the low price of seventy-five cents, by mail eightyfive cents.
